WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW...

Hungary is a landlocked country in central Europe with a population of 10 million people. The capital is Budapest, where around one quarter of the population lives. Its neighbours are Austria, Slovakia, Ukraine, Romania, Serbia, Croatia, and Slovenia. Hungary joined the EU in May 2004.

Mail Sent to Budapest

All mail from home should be sent to the McDaniel College Budapest campus address because there is someone on 24-hour door duty who can receive the packages. The words "Air Mail" should be written on all packages so that mail delivery is not delayed. Packages should never be declared over $49 in value; otherwise, they will be stuck in customs for days and you might have to pay duty! VISA / RESIDENCY PERMIT

U.S. citizens traveling to Hungary are NOT required to apply for an entry visa before they go abroad. However, students who stay longer than 90 days (as is the case with study abroad students enrolled at the Budapest campus) must apply for a Residence Permit within 30 days of arrival because you are not considered tourists while you are studying in Hungary. The Budapest campus will assist students with the procedure and will take you, as a group, to the Immigration Office before the start of classes.

APPLYING FOR A RESIDENCY PERMIT

Upon arrival, you must apply for a Residence Permit for the purpose of study in Budapest. You will need to take the following with you to the Immigration Office (located at XI. Budafoki út 60; student hours: Wednesday, 8:30 a.m. -12 noon):

- (1) a statement from your bank about the balance of the CHECKING account from which you will be drawing funds with your ATM card while living abroad. A balance of $1,500-$2,000 should be a sufficient amount to verify that you have the available funds to cover your personal expenses abroad. If the account is not yours, obtain a statement from the holder that he/she authorizes you to draw funds from the account (e.g., a declaration from your parents stating that they assume coverage of all costs of your stay in Hungary).
- (2) one passport-size photo (but you will need to have a total of 4 photos for other things)
- (3) a valid passport
- (4) official bill stamp/fee stamp of approximately 18000 Forints (@ $95) can be purchased at any Post Office in Budapest
- (5) A letter of acceptance from the Budapest campus (MCB will provide this)
- (6) Photocopies of some passport pages—the personal information/photo page; the stamp of Ferihegy Airport on arrival
- (7) ATM receipts, or currency exchange receipts after arrival to prove that you have some Hungarian money

The Budapest campus will provide the other documents required for the Residence Permit application (official school affidavit, health insurance coverage in Hungary, lease contract of the apartment in Hungarian, housing registration form, residence permit application form).

FLYING TO BUDAPEST

Purchasing your airline ticket

You should fly into Ferihegy airport in Budapest. Remember to add one day on to your travel time to reach Budapest on the designated arrival date. For example, if you depart on August 27th, you will actually arrive on the 28th.

Arranging your own flight is usually cheaper than going through a travel agent. An online student travel agency, such as Student Universe (www.studentuniverse.com), may offer competitive rates. To obtain their discount fares, you must purchase an inexpensive iNext student international ID card at www.inext.com/inextweb/guestpages/get_card/index.html.

Providing flight information

As soon as possible before you leave home, you must email the following information to Rose Falkner and Adriana Marton in Budapest:

- 1) your flight information (airline, date and arrival time at Ferihegy airport)
- 2) your passport number (found in the upper right hand corner of the page with your photo). The housing assistant in Budapest needs these numbers to fill out your residence card, which must be signed and submitted to the immigration office immediately upon arrival.

ARRIVAL IN BUDAPEST

Luggage

Before you go abroad, check with your airlines about the amount of luggage and weight allowed. When you collect your luggage at the airport in Budapest, you can use one of their free carts. If by some chance a piece of luggage is lost, be sure to give the College (NOT your apartment/flat) as your address so that the bag(s) will be delivered there. Staff will be at the reception desk to accept the bag; otherwise, you must wait in the hotel for the delivery while everyone else is touring the city.

Exchanging money

When you arrive in Budapest, you should wait until after you have gone through customs to exchange money. There will have plenty of time for each person to exchange money and/or withdraw funds from ATM machines in the airport lobby. Adriana Marton will show you where the ATM machines are located. You should get around $300 to $500 in forints (approximately 59,000 to 100,000 forints) in order to cover the “Initial Expenses” listed in this booklet.

Pick up at the airport

The Budapest staff will arrange to pick up a group of students at Ferihegy airport in a mini-bus and transport everyone to the city. Note: They determine the time(s) of pick-up according to when the majority of students are scheduled to arrive. If you are going to arrive much earlier or much later than the majority of students, you will be sent an email with information on how to take a taxi or airport shuttle to get to the Star hotel. You are welcome to contact the other students who are also going to Budapest and discuss the possibility of taking the same flight(s). Upon arrival, you will be taken directly to the Star Panzio Hotel, where the first two days of on-site orientation will be held.

The first few days

There will be a 5-day orientation period in Budapest, two of which will be spent at the Star Hotel near the school. At this time, you will receive your transit pass, student ID card, insurance card, and computer password as well as visit the Immigration Office as a group to apply for your Residence Permit. You will go to the Budapest campus to complete your course registration on the Archway (drop/add period) and get your class schedules. During the on-site orientation with Dr. Matthew Adamson and Adriana Marton, you will be introduced to the history of Hungary and various aspects of Hungarian culture, have “survival Hungarian” lessons, and take several mini-tours to various sites in Budapest in order to get to know the city before you actually move into your apartment. When you are taken to your apartment, a student from MCB will show you around your apartment and the neighborhood, and explain the basics (e.g., where to buy groceries, catch the bus to school, etc.).

CULTURE SHOCK

Anyone traveling overseas to another country for the first time will experience culture shock, to a greater or lesser degree. Because Hungary is so different from America, you will initially experience some difficulty in adjusting to the local lifestyle and culture in Budapest—not to mention the language barrier. No matter where you study abroad, no matter how long you go for, no matter how much you have dreamed about spending time in your host country, you are bound to come to a point where being there turns into something other than what you imagined. It could be a big thing like being unable to communicate with local shopkeepers; it could be something as minor as not being able to run down to the Wawa at 3 a.m. to buy snacks.

The term “culture shock” describes certain feelings you will experience—the anxiety and psychological disorientation associated with leaving a familiar environment and entering a new world where everything seems new and different. Until you learn how to read the signals of the new culture you find yourself in, you are going to feel some degree of homesickness or confusion. Rarely is culture shock a single moment that hits you like a brick in the face. Culture shock is a process—sometime you recognize when it is happening, and other times you will just feel frustrated or annoyed.

Culture shock can manifest itself in a number of ways: frustration, anxiety, irritability, homesickness, withdrawal, stereotyping of host nationals, and so on. These symptoms will vary from individual to individual and upon your length of stay overseas. Except in very rare cases, these symptoms will eventually disappear after the first couple of weeks. A great deal depends on your attitude, how flexible and adaptable you are to the cultural differences you encounter while abroad.

HEALTH CARE IN BUDAPEST

Health Insurance and Medical Care

During your semester in Hungary, you will automatically be covered by a student health insurance policy provided by UniMed Health Insurance, at no additional cost to what you have already paid for a semester abroad. This insurance provides coverage for the costs of medical services (including primary care, outpatient specialist care, in-patient care, emergency care and patient transport) that you may need because of illness or accidents that may occur during your stay in Hungary, and refunds the expenses of medications prescribed by a doctor up to the semiannual/annual limits in accordance with the terms and conditions of the policy. You will be able to call the doctor directly to schedule an appointment or have Adriana Marton do this for you as well as accompany you to the doctor’s office.

If you feel sick, or in the event of a health emergency, call Adriana Marton or the Dr. Matthew Adamson (Director of Student Affairs) immediately. If you want to see a doctor you have to dial the 24-hour assistance number +36-1-461-1590 on the front of your UNIMed card for an English speaking service. Please note that this special insurance covers students ONLY while they are in Hungary.

Do not forget to have your personal or family health insurance policy extended to cover travel in European countries while you stay overseas. Your family policy will cover the cost of medical care from a private practice in Budapest rather than at the university clinic if you prefer (your policy should state what percentage of the costs will be covered at a private facility). Your family policy will also provide coverage while you travel to other countries outside of Hungary during the semester.

An iNext Travel Insurance and ID Card may also be useful supplemental coverage in European countries. The iNext travel card includes coverage for medical and accident, mental health, hospital, baggage loss and delay, emergency evacuation, repatriation, document replacement, and travel delay. It includes additional benefits, like a 24-hour hotline that provides assistance with everyday medical, legal, and concierge needs as well as a global calling card. For information on different individual or group insurance plans, visit www.inext.com/inextweb/guestpages/get_card/index.html.

Note: iNextTravel Insurance, however, is not sufficient coverage by itself to replace your comprehensive insurance plan.

Counselling

A study abroad student's mental health is just as important as his or her physical well-being. Adjusting to the academic demands of a new school and a different environment can obviously create stress. Often, talking with a professional therapist can help you find ways to manage personal problems and cultural adjustments. McDaniel College Budapest retains a counsellor (Emőke Tapolyai) who has a great deal of experience working with college students. If you feel the need to talk over any troublesome issues with a therapist, please see Matthew Adamson or Adriana Marton. The first two visits are free of charge, and then regular fees will be determined with each therapist. All appointments are strictly confidential.

STUDENT HOUSING

Study abroad students will live in double-occupancy apartments within easy commute to campus. They may also choose to live at the Star Panzio, a small hotel (double or single occupancy rooms with private bathrooms) two blocks from campus, though this would be a more expensive option than the apartment. Budapest apartment assignments will be made on the main campus by Michael Robbins, Director of Residence Life, if necessary. The Budapest campus will try to accommodate, as much as possible, the flatmate preferences that you indicate on your Residency Permit Form—but this cannot be guaranteed.

Rented Apartments / Flats

The Budapest Campus has no dormitory facilities, does not own any apartment buildings, and cannot provide on-campus housing for its students. Most international students live in rented apartments, recommended by the housing service of the College. MCB does not enter into any business relationship with landlords, except when renting apartments for study abroad students coming from the U.S. Contracts for apartments are between College International and the landlords.

Most study abroad students on the Budapest program choose to live in a shared two-bedroom apartment. In most apartment houses, the main entrance is usually kept locked, so visitors can only enter the building if someone opens the front door for them. When you move in, please be courteous and polite to your immediate neighbors. Always lock up the apartment, even when you are at home. Before you leave the apartment, make sure every time to lock your windows and conserve energy by switching off all lights and electric appliances (irons, coffee makers, etc.). Electric bills can be high, and you will be charged for excessively high bills. Don't open the door to strangers or allow anyone (e.g., electrician, maintenance person) into your flat if your landlord or the College have not given you advance notice. Do not immediately invite new acquaintances to your apartment; take time to get to know them better first.

Note: Living in a city apartment is not like living in a student dormitory, and you are expected to abide by certain basic rules in order to respect the rights of the other residents. After 10:00 pm, you may not disturb the peace of your neighbors (playing loud music, having a wild party, even speaking in corridors and courtyards where sound carries easily). Hungarians usually go out to bars when they want to socialize.

Apartments will likely be located in different neighborhoods, in relatively safe parts of the city, and about a 30-minute commute to the College by public transport. Although the shared apartments differ in location, size, and furnishings, students can expect to find the following basic features in all apartments: living room / sitting area, fully equipped kitchen, bathroom, individual bedrooms, desk and chair, table, lamp, bed linens and towels, washing machine, and microwave. Every apartment will have Internet connection (not an optional service) at a fee of $100 per student per semester; this fee will be included as part of the comprehensive fee charged for the Budapest program. MCB is offering this as a service to you since the College computer room on campus is open only from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekdays. You will be saving time and the expense of commuting to/from the college by bus/metro or regularly going to internet cafes, where there may be few English speakers who can help you.

Apartments should NOT have—and students should not expect—tv, telephone landline, clothes dryer, and dish washer. If a tv or telephone landline are already in your apartment when you move in, you should notify Adriana Marton right away as you will automatically be charged extra for them. (Occasionally, depending on the landlord, some of these extra features can be provided upon prior request at an additional cost to the student.

Star Panzio Hotel

Hotel Address:	Star Panzio Hotel	Phone: +36 1-479-0420
	István utca 14	Fax: +36 1-342-4661
	Budapest, Hungary H-1078	www.starhotel.hu

Living at the Star Panzio will be a combination of a dorm and hotel environment. Breakfast is included in the price of the hotel. Hotel staff clean the rooms every day. Bed linen and towels will be provided and changed regularly—normally every third day. Pillows are made of synthetic material.

Each room has a separate bathroom with shower and toilet. Each is equipped with a small refrigerator and a color TV set /access to cable networks. Wi-fi is available free of charge in the building. There are no alarm clocks in the rooms, so you should take a little battery-powered one. There is only one microwave that is shared by all the students living in the hotel. There are no laundry facilities at the hotel; the closest laundromat is about a 15-minute bus ride from the hotel. Telephones in the rooms can be used for outgoing (long-distance) calls, and you will be expected to settle the phone bill every week. You can receive visitors in your room, but if anybody stays for the night, the hotel management will charge you an extra night for one additional person; McDaniel College will not cover the cost for your guests.

You are advised to keep the door of your room locked even when you are at home. One key is provided to each room, which should be left with the Reception Desk when you leave the hotel. If your roommate is likely to come home late and you do not want to be disturbed, the receptionist will unlock the room for him/her with a master key. There is 24-hour service at the hotel Reception desk. When you travel abroad, leave all valuables (laptops, etc.) with the reception desk or entrust a fellow student with the care of them. The hotel does not assume any responsibility for valuable articles left in the room.

TELEPHONE CALLS

Public Payphones

Most public phones in Budapest require the use of call cards, but some are coin-operated. These cards can be bought at most newsstands, post offices, grocery stores, internet cafes, hotels, and the school cafeteria.

Cell Phone (mobile)

Students are required to have a mobile (cell) phone for use in Budapest. A mobile phone is especially important for communicating with other students in the program and for Dr. Adamson and Adriana Marton to reach you (and vice versa). Having a phone in a large city of almost 3 million is for both your convenience and safety. If you choose to rent a phone from the College, you will be charged a rental and deposit fee (approximately $30, depending on the exchange rate of the dollar). Half of the money is the deposit that you will get back when you return the phone before leaving Budapest at the end of the semester. In addition to the actual charge for the use of the phone, you will buy a debit calling card that will give you minutes to talk down—locally or internationally.

In Hungary, incoming calls on a mobile phone are free; outgoing calls vary, depending on whether you call another cell or a landline. Text messaging is the cheapest. New types of calling cards (e.g., Neophone, EZ Phone, and Barangoló) can be purchased at larger newsstands for a minimum of 2000 forints' worth of time and can be used from any phone (including cell) and for all (in-country and international) long distance calls. The caller uses an access number to begin the call, enters the card's account number, then the desired phone number. These cards provide flexible use, but check the various rates they charge for international calls.

If you want to buy a cell phone on your own in Budapest or use one that you bring from the U.S., you should inform Adriana Marton of this two months before your arrival in Budapest so that she does not buy a mobile phone for you. However, before you leave the U.S., you should make sure that your cell phone works abroad and learn how to use it (you'll need to check with your U.S. carrier, manufacturer, or store where you purchased the phone before you go abroad). If you will be using your own U.S. cell phone, you must have a GSM phone that must be unlocked at a telecommunication store in the U.S. (for example, T Mobile provider) so that your phone will accept a Hungarian SIM card. You will then have a Hungarian number and some initial minutes that, after you've talked them down, you can supplement with a debit calling card as mentioned above. The Hungarian SIM card and minutes can be purchased at a Vodaphone, T Mobile, or other provider in Budapest.

Mobal phone (www.Mobal.com) is an International phone company that has reasonable prices, and there is no monthly fee. It is great for students planning to travel to other countries while abroad because it works in 150 different countries without having to change the SIM card.

TRANSPORTATION

Bus, Metro (subway), Tram, Trolleybus, Local Train (HEV)

Budapest has a very efficient and easy system of public transportation. You can get from one side of the city to the other in about 15 minutes by metro. A network of buses, trams, trolley buses, and subways run across the city. They run quite frequently, with many stops along the way between operating hours from 4:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily. There are also a few night buses that run later, so it is very important to know the night bus schedule. Schedules and information about traveling on the various means of public transportation are posted at the stops as well as at ticket offices, or on the website of the Budapest Transportation Corporation (www.bkv.hu). You must have a valid ticket to ride public transportation vehicles. Tickets may be purchased at the Budapest Transportation Corporation (BKV) ticket offices, at metro stops, or at ticket vending machines, post offices and some newspaper stands.

A student monthly transportation pass is the least expensive and easiest way to move around the city. The pass can be bought at all major metro stations, but you need to show a student ID. The pass is valid on all means of transportation and for all transfers within the city and its suburbs—metro, tram, bus, trolleybus, and suburban train (HEV). During your orientation period in Budapest, you will receive your first monthly pass and will be given instructions on the closest places to buy future passes.

Taxicabs

If you hail a cab on the street the fare may be higher than calling for one by phone (ask about the fare when you enter the taxi). There are many reputable taxi companies in Budapest, and you will learn more about them during your on-site orientation. Some reliable ones are:

CITY TAXI / Phone number: 211-1111
RÁDIÓ TAXI / Phone number: 377-7777

FOTAXI / Phone number: 222-2222
BUDA TAXI / Phone number: 233-3333

TRAVELING IN EUROPE

Trains

Budapest has three major train stations for travelling throughout Hungary and Europe. You will learn about buying tickets and making seat reservations during your on-site orientation.

If you are planning to do a lot of rail travel on your own before, during, or after the program, you may want to look into purchasing a EURAILPASS in the U.S. before you leave for Hungary. The Eurail Youthpass offers a special discount for young people under the age of 26. Some passes give you unlimited train travel in and between Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Holland, Hungary, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, Portugal, Republic of Ireland, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland. Eurail passes are not valid for travel in Great Britain. For more information about the pass, visit www.raileurope.com/us.

You should evaluate your own travel plans carefully before you purchase an expensive Eurail pass. There are many types of Eurail passes available—e.g., Eurail Youthpass, Eurail Saver Pass, Eurail Flexipass, and the standard Eurailpass—but other options may be cheaper than these rail passes.

Airlines

Several discount airlines have inexpensive fares for students who want to travel in Europe:

COLLEGE MATTERS

Course Registration

McDaniel students will be registering for their Budapest courses before going abroad through the Archway during their appointed registration time. The drop/add period takes place during orientation in Budapest and runs through the first week of the semester. Classes begin the first week of the semester, and there is only one section of courses. You will not find out the specific times your classes meet until you arrive in Budapest. (You should have a couple of alternate courses in mind should you need to drop or add any classes due to a schedule conflict.)

While abroad, McDaniel students will be able to register for their next semester courses on the main campus, via the Archway. Adviser approval is needed for registration, so you must email your adviser with a list of the classes you would like to take and get prior approval.

Class Schedule

Morning classes begin at 8.30 a.m., and afternoon classes at 12:45 p.m. Usually, there are two so-called double (90-minute) classes per week in each course you take. Lunch break is between 11.45 am to 12.30 p.m., depending on your class schedule.

Computer Facilities

The campus has a computer room with about thirty workstations (and a few computers in the reading room). All students will be assigned user names to enable them to enter the network, use the workstations for doing home assignments, and have access to the Internet and email. The computer room is located in the basement in B-07 and is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekdays (except when computer classes are in session). Wi-fi is available in the whole building. Photocopy and printing facilities are available in the computing lab – B07. Be sure to check your email frequently for information from Dr. Adamson, Adriana Marton, and the home campus.

Laptops

Internet service will be provided in all MCB apartments, as part of your comprehensive program fee. While it is not absolutely necessary to have a laptop in Budapest, most McDaniel students do travel with them and recommend that you bring your laptop with you. You will need to take along an adapter with a “continental” type of plug (3-prong) that is compatible with your computer cord (see <http://www.adaptelec.com/wa9c-travel-plug-adapter-for-europe-type-c-cee-716-europlug-p-5.html>), and you may want to have your laptop insured as a safety precaution.

Many students with laptops sign up for SKYPE (at <http://www.skype.com/products/skypeout/>) – it is a software that allows you to call home for next to nothing! Skype is free to download and easy to use. If you call from computer to computer, it's free. There is a fee for calling a regular phone number; you must first purchase SKYPE credits online. You will need a headset with a microphone to use SKYPE (or a web camera).

College Cafeteria

The Budapest campus has a cafeteria where you can buy a variety of foods and snacks—sandwiches, pastries, soup, meats, vegetables, pasta, hot and cold drinks. Cafeteria hours are 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. There are also lots of fast food restaurants and snack bars in the neighborhood, including Wiener Schnitzel on Istvan Street.

Textbooks / School Supplies

Textbooks will be available from the first week of classes. They cost almost the same as in the US, but you'll be required to buy fewer. School supplies are more expensive in Budapest than in the US. You can purchase notebooks, pens, highlighters, etc. at little stationery shops in the city and Tesco (like Wal-mart). Office Depot has two stores in Budapest, and one is not too far from the college.

Student ID Card

Participants on the McDaniel College Budapest program will receive Student ID cards, which entitle them to various discounts, including free entrance to the major museums, reduced-priced monthly pass for public transportation, and half-price on trains. Be sure to take with you to Budapest at least 4 passport-size photos. These will be used to obtain your IDs and transit passes.

An iNext Travel Insurance and ID Card can also be used in European countries to obtain discounts on air, rail, bus, and ferry travel; some hostels, student cafeterias, theatres, museums, cinemas, historical sites, and phone card service in many countries. It also covers passport replacement and provides a toll-free Help Line for emergency assistance as well as basic sickness/accident insurance, including coverage for medical evacuation and repatriation in the event of serious injury.

Electronic access card to college premises

Students can enter and leave college premises by using electronic access cards. The card will be issued when you first enter the building on paying a deposit of 3,000 Forints (@ $15).

Student Newspaper

Study abroad students are encouraged to join the Budapest campus newspaper staff or contribute articles to the paper. The Messenger is published four times a semester (adviser: Richard Smyth).

INTERNSHIPS

There are several internship opportunities in Budapest for students interested in applying the lessons of studio art, business, communication, economics, political science, and international relations to world outside the College. They will need to be requested before you go to Budapest. If an internship position is available, you must submit an application to the company or organization when you arrive in Budapest and interview for the position. Opportunities include but are not limited to:

Citibank Hungary

For Business, Economics, and Communication students who are interested in the Corporate Bank or Regional Shared Service Center sectors. Internships in the Consumer Business section available only to fluent Hungarian speakers.

International Center for Democratic Transition (ICDT)

Political Science and International Relations students interested in occasional projects involving a given issue, country, or region, at this Budapest-based NGO devoted to studying and aiding emerging democracies.

Kirowsi Isobar Communication Agency

GROUP STUDY TRIPS

Group field trips are a special educational feature of the MCB program. Each semester study abroad students are required to participate in these Study Trips (e.g., a long weekend trip to a site in Hungary and a 5-day tour to Venice/Vienna), led by MCB faculty and staff, to learn about Hungary and important cities in Europe. These study trips are structured as a credit/fail course with assignments (called “The European Heritage: A 21st Century Grand Tour”), and students will earn one semester credit for the experience. These guided study tours are not simple shopping trips or the kind of sight-seeing trips you plan for yourself during the semester; they will include both hands-on activities and academic content. Typically, the trip to the Lake Balaton region in the fall is the 2nd weekend after classes start; the trip to Pécs in the spring is the 3rd weekend after classes start. The 5-day trip is during Fall and Spring Breaks (for dates, check the Academic Calendar at www.mcdaniel.edu/budapest).

Note Expenses for the Group Study Trips that are covered / not covered:

- On the trips in Hungary and to Venice/Vienna, transportation (trains, public transportation, and taxis), hotels, breakfast, and all entrance fees to museums or exhibits are included in the pre-paid trip fee (part of your comprehensive fee).
- On the 5-day trip out of Hungary, the costs of all meals (excluding breakfasts and one group dinner) are the students’ responsibility.
- On the weekend trip to Lake Balaton or Pécs in Hungary, College International hosts the students to one dinner; the remaining meals (lunches and another dinner) are the students’ responsibilities.

MONEY MATTERS

The unit of currency in Hungary is the Forint (HUF). For the latest exchange rates: X-rates.com. Coins in circulation are 5, 10, 20, 50, 100 and 200 forints. Banknotes come in denominations of 500, 1000, 2000, 5000, 10000, and 20000 Ft. Paying by credit card is not the routine experience that it is in much of the West. Cards are accepted by most tourists-related businesses, such as hotels, restaurants, stores in the shopping districts, and petrol stations, supermarkets, and train or bus stations. Travelers’ checks can be cashed in banks, but they are inconvenient to use and are not accepted in shops. Cash machines (ATMs) are relatively widespread.

Currency Exchange

Be sure to take your passport with you when exchanging money at banks or currency exchange shops. Keep all receipts for exchanges since you will need to show them when obtaining your residency permit upon arrival.

Personal Expenses

Make sure that you have a credit card with which you can draw cash from ATMs in Europe: a MasterCard, Visa or American Express credit card, based on a CHECKING account with your bank in America. Checks are not honoured at stores or travel agencies. Before you go abroad, you must inform your bank that you will be in Hungary and other parts of Europe for the semester. In the past, we have had students whose banks have declared cards inactive or even invalid when a series of what appeared to be unexpected withdrawals were made in Europe. (Past participants recommended approximately $2,500 - $3,000 to cover personal expenses, such as food, gifts, hostels, and side trips.

How much to bring:

The amount of money you spend during the semester depends on your lifestyle and personal travel plans. And, for those reasons it's difficult to provide you with any specific figure. Below are some common items that you might buy and their costs in dollars, but keep in mind that the exchange rate changes and things might be a little more or less expensive than indicated below.

Ordinary expenses (approximate):

Monthly transit pass	3,700 forints/@$20 (covers all 4 types of transportation in Budapest)
Haircut	$ 25 for women / $15 for men (this includes washing, cutting, drying)
Vodafone / T Mobile cards (for cell phone)	start at 3,000 forints (approximately $15)

Food (approximate):

Milk	$ 1.00 (liter)
Bread	$ 1.00 (loaf)
Cereal	$ 1.50-$2.00 (box)
Yogurt	$.50 (small container)
Juice	$ 1.50 (liter)
Coke, Pepsi, etc.	$ 1.50 (2 liters)
Cheese	$ 3.00 (lb.)
Eggs	$ 1.50 (10 in a carton)
Butter	$ 1.50 (block)
Coffee	$ 3.25 (small package)
Potato chips	$ 1.50 (average, not large, bag)
Lunch meat	$ 3.75 (lb, good quality ham)

Seasonal fresh fruits and vegetables are generally less expensive than in the US.

No Meal Plan

You are not charged for a meal plan while you are studying abroad in Budapest. Students on the MCB program live in apartments with fully equipped kitchens, so most students shop for food and cook their own meals during the semester. Supermarkets and small neighborhood convenience stores are prevalent in Budapest. Food stores open early, and the larger supermarkets stay open into the evening (those at malls usually until 9:00 p.m.). Some students recommend taking along a tote bag to carry the food you purchase at neighborhood grocery stores or markets.

Restaurants and Clubs:

$10.00 (full meal with drinks, in an average Hungarian-run place)

McDonald's, Burger King, KFC, Pizza Hut and Friday's are more expensive in Europe than here

Tipping in Restaurants

It is rude not to give a tip. Hungarians do tip 10% or more. Tip taxi drivers 10%.

Costs per day:

Some days, you may spend more than $20 (going clubbing, eating at a special place, etc.) or less (just eating at home). Obviously, you will also have to factor in the cost of travel to other countries and expenses there. Be warned! After living in Budapest for about a month, when the Westminster students travel to Munich, Paris, etc., they come back shell-shocked at how expensive it is in other countries. You might want to check the internet for prices for train tickets, airfares, and youth hostels for places you want to visit as a way to determine basic travel expenses. Feel free to contact former Budapesters and ask how they handled finances. (You can find their names on the McDaniel Europe (Budapest) website: www.mcdaniel.edu/budapest.)

Initial Expenses

Expect to spend money in the first few days you are in Budapest. Often students become nervous when they realize that they have spent $100 in a couple of days, but this is normal and not what will happen throughout the whole semester! Initial expenses will be for the transit pass, the student ID, electronic entry card deposit (reimbursed at the end of the semester), apartment keys, cell phone rental and deposit fee, books, eating out during orientation, and buying groceries for your flat. During your on-site orientation, you will learn how to change money and where to find the closest ATM machines in your neighborhood.

IMPORTANT: You should be prepared to cover the following expenses, in forints, in the first days after arriving in Budapest ($1= approximately 200 -215 forints):

Food and cleaning supplies

Prices vary.

Student Activity Fee

3,000 forints (This fee helps to cover the cost of activities that are planned for the whole student body throughout the semester: parties, visits to museums and concerts, and day trips around Budapest. This fee is charged to all MCB students and enables the school to offer these events at a discount to students.)

Student ID

500 forints

Electronic entry card deposit

3,000 forints (This money will be returned at the end of the semester when the card is turned in.)

Monthly transportation pass

3,850 forints (This transit pass is good for unlimited trips throughout the month. It is good for every kind of transportation within Budapest: the subway (called metro), buses, trolley buses, and trams. A student pass is 50% less than the normal pass.)

Fee for Immigration Stamp

18,000 forints

Cell phone rental and deposit fee

6,000 forints (about $30 of which 3,000 forints is a deposit fee that will be returned at the end of the semester if the phone is returned before leaving Budapest.) In addition to the actual charge for the use of the phone, you will buy a debit calling card that will give you minutes to talk down—locally or internationally.

TOTAL

34,350 forints

 If you plan on buying a cell phone on your own in Budapest or use one that you purchase in the U.S., let Adriana Marton know well before your arrival so that the College does not buy you a phone.*

Automatic Teller Machines

The most convenient way to get money (be it in Hungary or anywhere in Europe) is to use your ATM card. There are ATM machines everywhere—at all banks, on major streets, and in shopping malls. There is also one right across the street from the College, at the entrance of the campus of the Veterinary School across Bethlen Gabor Square. ATMs will give you only local currency at that day's current exchange rate, which means "Forints" in Hungary and Euros in other places you'll be visiting. Unless you're in a shop that caters to tourists, Hungarians expect you to pay in forints. The current rate of exchange has been fluctuating between 180 and 225 Forints (HUF) to one US Dollar.

There are two important things to know about using an ATM card in Europe, however:

- 1) Your card must be connected to a checking account, NOT a savings account. You cannot get money from a foreign savings account through an overseas machine.
- 2) Your bank at home will charge you a fee for withdrawing and converting to a foreign currency each time you use the card.

Even if you must go to the trouble of opening a checking account at your home bank, there are some big advantages to using the ATM card compared to using traveler's checks: (1) Travelers' checks are inconvenient because you must go to a local bank to cash the checks. While some souvenir shops may take traveler's checks, you will need cash on hand for everyday items, groceries, haircut, etc. (2) Some banks don't accept traveler's checks, and smaller stores and restaurants won't accept large bills. If possible, choose an ATM machine located at a bank, hotel, or shopping mall. If you are alone when drawing money from an ATM on the street, make sure that no one sees you entering your PIN code. The ATM at the main entrance of the Veterinary School on Istvan Street, across the street from the college, is safe to use.

If you want to pay with a credit card at a store, always keep an eye on how the shop assistant handles your card. Never allow him/her to take your card to a back room or pull it through the machine twice. It is a common practice to "clone" or copy a credit card in order to have illegal access to your bank account. If you have any suspicion, ask to delete the credit card transaction and pay with cash. It's a good idea to have a credit card as a back-up source of funds. Hungary is still basically a cash-oriented society, so most small stores don't accept credit cards, but you can use the cards in large supermarkets and when purchasing bigger items. Its best use (or non-use!), however, is for emergencies. In western European countries, you can use a credit card to pay for just about everything.

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

The Budapest Campus

McDaniel College Budapest is located in the 7th district of Budapest on the Pest side of the Danube. It is a metropolitan area in central Budapest, easily accessible by means of public transportation. There are several schools, colleges, a large hospital, and two university campuses in the neighborhood. The College building is situated on an enclosed property with a front courtyard and a large backyard that is used for outdoor sports, social activities, and car parking. The building contains classrooms, lecture halls, administrative offices, reading room, computer, and cafeteria. Students also use the gymnasium of the Veterinary School of Szent Istvan University (across the street from MCB) for classes in Physical Education. An electronic access system provides greater security to students and staff entering the MCB premises. The attendants at the main reception desk monitor access to the building and campus. These attendants do not work for McDaniel College Budapest exclusively.

Before the start of classes, study abroad students will receive a 4-5 day on-site orientation to the campus and the city, with special attention given to crime awareness. You will also receive a contact information card (MCB staff, clinic, police, ambulance, fire department) to call in case of an emergency.

Budapest – a World City

Budapest is a large city of 1.9 million inhabitants and attracts visitors from all over the world. From opera to museums to hiking in the Buda hills, there is always something to do. In addition, you'll be experiencing everyday challenges in terms of independent living in a foreign city as you commute, shop, and make your way around. Public safety is no worse in Budapest than in any other major city around the world. In fact, it is still regarded as a relatively safe place in comparison with many other major European cities. Budapest has a relatively low rate of violent crimes compared to the United States, but as is the case in every metropolis, you should be careful.

The big city environment is, of course, different from the well-guarded and safe environment of the McDaniel College campus. However, with certain common sense precautions, you can minimize the danger of becoming a victim of a criminal act. You will be expected take personal responsibility for your own safety and for the protection of your personal belongings. It goes without saying that you will be more exposed to danger and assault if you do not exercise prudent judgment, especially while under the influence of drugs or alcohol. Reckless behavior can do more than ruin your stay in Europe! We want you to return home with pleasant memories and unforgettable experiences.

Crime Prevention: Do's and Don't's

This practical advice may seem pretty obvious, but if you're new to a large city, you can sometimes be naive.

(1) Upon initial arrival in Budapest, visitors are often fascinated by the beauty of the city and often do not keep a close eye on their valuables. Thieves take advantage of this situation. The most frequent crimes committed against foreign visitors are scams, pick-pocketing, and theft.

Advice: Do not leave purses or luggage unattended in public places at any time! If you have a long wait at the train station, you can leave your luggage in lockers. Be cautious around street vendors and beggars, especially around metro stations. Theft of passports, currency, and credit cards is a frequent problem in train stations and on public transportation.

(2) BE ESPECIALLY AWARE OF PICKPOCKETS operating on certain buses and trams as well as in game arcades in malls. Some pickpockets are young people in their teens or twenties who may work with a partner. Prime theft areas involve crowds of people where it is easier to distract the unsuspecting victim.

Advice:

- While travelling, store your passport and money in a secure bag or money belt. Don't put any valuables, documents, or a purse in your backpack, the outer pockets of your coat, or the back pocket of your trousers. It's advisable to keep your cash and credit cards in different places.
- Watch your money in public restrooms, where you have to pay to use a stall. Don't carry around too much cash.
- MAKE SURE THAT YOU ALWAYS HAVE YOUR BAG CLOSED AND FIRMLY IN YOUR GRASP!
- Leave your expensive jewelry at home.
- Make photocopies of all your important documents (passport, credit card, etc.). Should they get lost or stolen, the photocopies will greatly facilitate the crime reporting procedure and replacement of your documents.
- Try to blend in with locals and be aware of your surroundings.

(3) Fake policemen: During the summer uniformed tourist police patrols do their beat with interpreters at their side at the most frequently visited places of Budapest. Since police badges can be bought all over the place, some people try to pose as tourist police and ask visitors for their money, credit cards, or travel documents in order to check them. The sole reason is to cheat tourists. If you do business with an illegal moneychanger or even if you have declined the offer, two other persons may show up, claiming to be plain-clothes police officers and displaying false police badges or ID cards. They may ask to check all of your money, and while they count your bank notes, half of your money just disappears!

Advice: Hungarian police will be in uniform, and a genuine police officer will always have a number displayed. They will NEVER ask to see your money or demand cash payment of a fine. If you are fined on the spot due to any breach of the law, the police officer will give you a postal check with the exact amount of the fine. To avoid these scams, head in another direction and say that you will consult another police officer patrolling the area in uniform.

(4) Night-time: Although aggravated assaults are not common on the streets of Budapest, it's better to be safe than sorry.

Advice:

- If you walk home at night, always stay in well-lit areas and avoid dark public parks.
- If you use the metro in the late evening hours, board a car in which there are passengers.
- It may be more advisable to take a cab home at night. Always choose one that belongs to a company, as it is less likely that they will charge an excessive fare.
- You should not go to late parties with unfamiliar groups alone.
- Do not leave your friend alone at a party, in a disco, at a nightclub, or on the street at night.
- Beware of a common scam involving attractive young women, gullible guys, expensive drinks in a nightclub, and a trip to the nearest ATM to fleece you of your money.

(5) When traveling to other countries in Europe, take extra precautions.

Advice:

- It's safer to travel in groups.
- Always lock the door of your train compartment at night.
- Use locks on suitcases, and don't leave your valuables unattended at any time.
- Leave your valuables in the safe at your hotel; protect valuables in hostels as well; never set your purse or wallet on a café table or bench beside you.
- Don't take more cash with you than necessary for shopping.
- Safe places to meet new friends are restaurants, pubs, and other public places.
- Don't draw unnecessary attention to yourselves as Americans by being loud or behaving in an odd or rude manner in public.
- Never appear drunk in public—you'll be an easy prey for pickpockets and pick-up artists, especially on buses and other public transportation.

ALCOHOL AND DRUGS

Study abroad students are subject to the laws of their host country. Students should not assume that the U.S. will protect them if they violate the laws of any host country they visit or if they are incarcerated while overseas—including but not limited to laws pertaining to alcoholic beverages, marijuana, and other illegal substances. There is a zero tolerance policy in Hungary on the use, possession, sale and trafficking of narcotic drugs. The legal drinking age is 18 in Europe, but certain social customs and rules govern the consumption of alcoholic drinks in Hungary as in the U.S. Students who choose to drink while overseas should do so in moderation. Binge drinking and public drunkenness carry a great stigma in Hungary. While you may think that getting drunk is harmless fun, Hungarians consider public drunkenness boorish behavior.

NOTE: When you are on a study abroad semester in Budapest, you are still bound by the McDaniel College Honor Code and Code of Conduct. College policies strictly forbid the consumption of alcoholic beverages and the use of drugs on MCB premises. Students living in accommodations provided by MCB are subject to the same alcohol policy as those living in residence halls on the McDaniel campus.

Policy on Responsible Drinking for Study Abroad Students in Budapest

In joining McDaniel's Budapest Study Abroad Program a student undertakes the responsibilities that naturally come with independent living in a large, foreign city. Among those responsibilities are adhering to McDaniel College's policy on the consumption of alcohol.

Since the drinking age in Hungary is 18, students from the main campus are legally allowed to drink while in Budapest. They should be aware, however, that they must use alcohol in a responsible manner, and that the attitude toward drinking among most young people in Europe is different than on American campuses.

First and foremost, the idea of "binge drinking" (drinking to get drunk) is viewed by European college students as a ridiculous goal for a fun night out. Overall, European students grow up in a culture where beer and wine are "everyday" beverages and have learned to drink at home at family celebrations or even at daily meals. This does not mean that all students drink, but it does put alcohol into a different context for those who do. When Europeans observe binge drinking among American students, they regard it as immature and typically "high school-ish" behavior.

American students, coming from a country where the legal drinking age is 21, are often unprepared for the ease with which they can obtain alcohol in Hungary. Some are unprepared to drink in a responsible manner because of attitudes about drinking they bring from their social lives on the main campus.

Second, renting an apartment and living on one's own often requires more responsibility than living in a campus residence hall. Students are expected to abide by basic rules and respect the rights of their neighbors. For example, after 10:00 p.m., one may not disturb the peace of the neighbors (playing loud music, having a wild party, even speaking in corridors and courtyards where sound easily carries). Drinking in the apartments late at night often leads to loud and boisterous behavior that is not only rude but also inconsistent with lease agreements with landlords. If a landlord reports a disturbance of the peace to the local police (as has been the case in the past), this is an embarrassment to the College, may result in a large fine for the students, and may even result in students being forced by the landlord to leave the apartment (at their own expense).

McDaniel College and McDaniel College Budapest do not encourage any student to drink. Those who do choose to drink must drink responsibly. Responsible drinking means:

- being able to get yourself home after a night out.
- not being out of control of your language or behavior in a public place.
- not ruining your friends' night out by making them worry about you and how much you're drinking
- not having so much to drink that you pass out
- not having so much to drink that you can't remember where you were the night before
- not having so much to drink that you can't get to classes the next morning
- not drinking before going to classes
- not allowing drinking to affect your ability to study

The following policies apply at all times when MCB students are on a college-sponsored trip or participating in an official activity.

- At meals, students are permitted to order only one glass of wine or beer with their meal.
- No drinking is permitted when the group is in transit (walking, or on a train or bus)

- No drinking is permitted in hotel rooms or lobbies.

NOTE: Students who violate these policies at any time during the semester risk being dismissed from the Budapest program and returned to the US, at their own expense

SEXUAL ISSUES / SEXUAL ASSAULT

The risks of unsafe sex—disease, unintended pregnancy, social and emotional consequences —don't decrease when you go abroad. In some cultures and parts of the world, those who engage in pre-marital sex (especially women) are judged more harshly and the incidence of HIV/AIDS is much higher than in the U.S. Be aware that McDaniel Europe is a microcosm of the world, with students from diverse countries (e.g., Saudi Arabia, Iran, Egypt, Nigeria, China, Turkey, etc.) with different cultural values and attitudes regarding sex and women's roles than you are accustomed to at home. Because MCB is our own branch campus and a small, comfortable learning environment where study abroad students share classes and social activities with international students, you may falsely assume that by and large you also share similar attitudes about dating and gender issues.

If you get drunk at a party or in public places, you are more exposed to the danger of rape and sexual assault. Never go to discos and nightclubs alone. When you are at a club, keep your eye on your drink. If you are invited to a private party by a new acquaintance, allow yourself time to get to know the person first. If you are a victim of sexual assault, contact Dr. Adamson or Adriana Marton immediately. The college will do everything possible to provide the level of support needed and desired by the victim, including prompt medical assistance and police involvement.

EMERGENCY TELEPHONE NUMBERS IN BUDAPEST

CENTRAL EMERGENCY PHONE	112	AMBULANCE	104 (in English: 311 1666)
POLICE	107	FIRE	105

Students are expected to report all crimes, emergencies, and suspicious activities to the College administration. Call Adriana Marton or Dr. Adamson. They will advise you to call the police (107) and will help you file a police report. If you are arrested or questioned by the police, you should insist that the College administration be informed immediately. Victims of personal crimes, abuses, or molestations in Budapest are also encouraged to report to the English- and German-language hotline, a 24-hour telephone service maintained by the Hungarian tourist information agency (438 8080).

If you have reason to believe that a fellow student is missing during the semester, immediately alert the MCB administration. All possible efforts will be made to locate the student to determine his/her state of health and well-being, with the help of all pertinent law-enforcement authorities and the ambulance service. In the event of an international or political crisis during which foreign citizens in general or U.S. citizens in particular may be at risk, MCB will make every effort to ensure the safety of its students.

WHAT TO TAKE TO BUDAPEST

- 4 passport photos (not photocopies). You'll need them for a student ID that will entitle you to a discounted transit pass. (Pack the photos in your carry-on luggage so that you can give them to Adriana Marton at the airport.)
- 2 copies of the front page /photo page and the visa page of your passport (Keep one for yourself, and give the other to Adriana Marton.)
- your ATM card and credit card.
- Bank and credit card company “lost or stolen card” phone numbers
- A bank statement showing your name and that you have a least $1,500 in your account, or a statement from your parents indicating that they have such an account and that you have access to it. (This statement is required by the immigration authorities to show that you have funds to support yourself while in the country.)
- An electric converter with a “continental” type plug, if you are taking anything electrical (they can be bought in Budapest, but are more expensive). MCB has some hair dryers bought in Budapest that you may borrow.
- A first aid kit that includes: band-aids, thermometer, cold medicine, and pain reliever (aspirin, Tylenol, Advil—or whatever you normally use). There are pain relievers in Hungary, but you won't have to worry about the effectiveness and strength of some brand you're unfamiliar with. It's a good idea to have something like Nyquil on hand in case you get sick.
- Medicines and prescriptions: A 4-month supply of any prescription drugs you take and extra unfilled prescriptions from your doctor in case you run out or lose your medicine. Medicine of any kind can be purchased only at pharmacies and may not be as readily available in Hungary as in the U.S. If you go to the clinic connected to the College, the doctor there may be able to fill your prescription.
- A watch and perhaps a battery alarm clock (These are available in Hungary, but if you have one, don't spend your money on buying one in Budapest.)
- Contact solution and cleaner: If you wear gas permeable lenses, you'll have to take your own supplies. Products for gas and hard lenses are not as readily available in Hungary as in the U.S. If, however, you wear soft contact lenses, you'll have no trouble buying Bausch and Lomb products, but they will be more expensive than U.S. brands found at places like Target.
- Favorite food (optional): Peanut butter is only available in large grocery stores.
- Luggage: On overseas flights, generally every passenger is allowed to check two bags, weighing no more than around 50 lbs. each. You are also allowed two carry-ons (one that can be stored in the overhead bin or under your seat, and one that is considered “personal,” like a purse or book bag). So, you can check two large suitcases and carry on a laptop and a book bag. It's still best, however, to check with the airline you're using for specific information on weight allowances and dimensions of bags. All airlines are pretty strict on these matters! Also, remember that you'll probably be returning with gifts and souvenirs, so don't use up your whole weight allowance with too many clothes. Some students take one empty suitcase for the souvenirs they buy. It's a good idea to take along a small suitcase or duffle bag for weekend travelling.
- A tourist guidebook for Hungary/Budapest is a must (such as Time Out Budapest, Lonely Planet Budapest (Hungary), or Go Abroad). Also take a Hungarian phrase book/dictionary and calculator—very useful (e.g., Lonely Planet Hungarian Phrase Book).
- Some small plastic bottles for shampoo and other liquids when you go on side-trips and don't want to carry large bottles. Soap, shampoo, conditioner, and toothpaste are sold in Budapest, but you may want to bring some with you.
- Books to read! School supplies--paper, pens, notebooks, etc. (school supplies are expensive in Budapest). MCB does not have a student store in their building, so you will have to go to stationery stores or Office Depot in the city to buy these supplies if you do not have them.
- A swimsuit for when you visit Budapest's thermal baths (Hungary's famous thermal baths are open all year round)

- Amply supply of socks and underwear
- Good walking shoes/running shoes/high boots for cold weather
- An umbrella or some kind of rain gear
- A lock if you expect to stay in student hostels during your travels
- Clothes: The amount and type of clothes you pack, of course, depends mostly on your “style” of dressing, but clothes that you normally wear in the U.S. are also fine in Budapest. Hungarian students dress very much as you do, but a little more formally—for example, you rarely see students wearing sweats on the street. Remember, you’ll be doing an “urban commute” each day, not running across campus to class, so you might feel that in general people “dress up” more than you’re used to. Also, you will be going to the theatre, opera or a concert at least once during the semester, and young people of all ages dress up for those evenings. So definitely bring along one “dressier” outfit” and high heels if you wear them. Typically, winter in Budapest is very much like winter in Pennsylvania. It will be cold in February and maybe March, so take along a warm jacket and boots. Take clothes that can be layered and things for both warm and cold weather. Don’t forget to pack night clothes, robe, slippers, and socks for the apartment. Almost all students buy some clothing while abroad, so remember not to load up your suitcase! (See your yellow Study Abroad Handbook for other suggested items to pack for a semester abroad.)

It’s not necessary to take any small electrical appliances (e.g., hair dryers, curling irons, or clothes irons) because they won’t work on the 220-voltage in Hungary—unless you have a converter/adaptor plug. You can buy inexpensive small appliances in Budapest

Don’t bother taking clothes hangers—it’s easy to buy them in the Hungarian version of dollar stores. In fact, any household item is available at large stores similar to Wal-Mart. Tesco (British), Auchan (French), and IKEA all have branches in Budapest.

Thermal Baths

Hungary is uniquely rich in thermal waters. Buda has around 120 thermal springs, which feed into mineral baths in such places as the Király Baths, with its 16th century pool, and Rac Baths, with its Turkish octagonal pool. Bathing was very popular as far back as the Roman age and later in the Turkish period. Today, the thermal waters in Hungary are especially recommended for maintaining good health because the thermal water in the baths, heated deep within the earth's crust, often contains mineral water with natural healing powers. Some baths are segregated by sex since many bathers go around naked (you will be issued a loincloth and a towel or sheet, or you can wear a swimsuit). Budapest has a number of spa hotels and baths that are popular among tourists and Hungarians alike.

The best Budapest baths are:

- Thermal Hotel on Margaret Island and Gellert Hotel (XI., Kelenhegyi ut 2-4)
- Kiraly Bath (II., Fő utca 84)
- Lukacs Bath (II., Frankel Leo utca 25-29)
- Rac Bath (I., Hadnagy utca 8-10)
- Rudas Bath (I., Dobrenței tér 9)
- Szechenyi Bath (XIV., Allatkerti krt. 11)
- Gellert Bath (XI. Kelenhegyi ut 4)

OTHER INFORMATION

Climate in Hungary

The climate in Hungary is temperate, and sunshine is a dominant feature, except for some rain and snow from November through January. In September and October, the weather is usually mild and sunny. In winter the temperature can sink as low as 10/15 degrees Centigrade and in the summer rise above 30 degrees Centigrade. Spring usually sets in mid-March.

Temperature

Temperatures are measured in the Celsius or Centigrade system. An approximate, but easy way to convert Celsius temperatures to Fahrenheit is to double the Celsius number and add 30. Therefore, 30 Celsius = 90 degrees Fahrenheit. Budapest has a temperate continental climate.

Time Difference

The time in Hungary is 6 hours later than Eastern Standard Time in the U.S.

Weights and Measures

In Hungary, as in all European countries, the metric system of weights and measures is used. The following chart converts between the English and metric systems for the most commonly used measures:

1 centimeter = 0.39 inches	1 inch = 2.54 centimeters (cm)
1 meter = 3.28 feet	1 foot = 0.305 meters (m)
1 meter = 1.09 yards	1 yard = 0.914 meters (m)
1 kilometer = 0.62 miles	1 kilometer = 0.62 miles
1 gram = 0.035 ounces (oz)	1 ounce = 28.35 grams (g)
1 decagram = 0.35 ounces or 0.022 pounds (lb)
10 decagrams = 3.5 ounces or 0.22 pounds
1 kilogram = 2.2046 pounds (lb)	1 pound = 0.453 kilograms (kg)
1 deciliter = 0.21 pints	1 pint = 4.73 deciliters
1 liter = 0.264 gallons (gal)	1 gallon = 3.785 liters (l)
1 pint = 0.473 liters	1 pint = 0.473 liters (l)

Electric Current

All electrical outlets operate with a voltage of 220/230 Volts and 50 cycles. If you bring electric appliances from the United States, you'll need a converter and plug adapter to use them in Europe. Bring the converter and plug adapter from home as they can be hard to find abroad. However, because the electrical voltage in Hungary is twice that of the U.S., even with a converter, small appliances such as hair dryers or shavers may become damaged. Inexpensive small appliances can be purchased easily in Hungary.
