Clinic Director

Kevin Curley

McDaniel College Men's Basketball Coach

Coach Curley took over the Green Terror sidelines in 2007. In two years, he has guided the Green Terror to back to back winning seasons and two consecutive Centennial Conference play-off appearances. This past season he led the Green Terror to 18 wins, the most wins in a single season in McDaniel history, and a second place finish in the Centennial Conference. For his team's accomplishments, Curley was named the 2009 Centennial Conference Coach of the Year.

Before taking over the McDaniel program, Coach Curley spent nine years as an assistant coach at Colgate University, including serving as the top assistant from 2002-2007, where he helped head coach Emmett Davis become the winningest coach in Colgate history.

As a recruiter at Colgate, he helped bring in four All-Patriot League performers, five players named to the all-rookie team and four 1,000 point scorers.

Prior to that, Coach Curley served four seasons as the assistant coach at Bethany College, WV. The last class that he assisted in the recruitment of went on to win their conference twice and made one trip to the NCAA tournament.

Coach Curley has over fifteen years of experience working with and running quality basketball camps and clinics.

The Clinic

It is our goal to make this clinic a fun and enjoyable experience for all participants. In addition, we will be teaching individual skills and the basic fundamentals of basketball such as ball handling, shooting, rebounding and a variety of offensive moves. Each participant will also receive an individual work out program that the McDaniel College basketball team uses.

McDaniel College is located in Westminster, MD, at the crossroads of Route 140 west and Route 31 south. The beautiful hilltop campus is also home to the Baltimore Ravens summer training camp. Gill Gymnasium, where the clinic will be held, has four full-length basketball courts and 18 individual baskets for individual instruction.
