

ACADEMIC ALL-AMERICA LISTING

(as of 8/18/05)

The Academic All-America program has been conducted by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) for over 25 years. Each year, teams are selected by CoSIDA members in eight programs: football, women's volleyball, men's and women's basketball, baseball and softball. Athletes from other sports are eligible for the men's and women's at-large teams.

To be nominated, the student-athlete must be a starter or important reserve on the team with at least a 3.20 cumulative grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) for his or her career and be at least a sophomore in athletic and academic standing.

Voting is first done on eight district levels, with the top vote-getters from each district advancing to the national ballot. A first, second and third team are then selected in both the University and College Divisions, except in football, which consists of just first and second teams.

The Academic All-America program has involved several corporate sponsors during its history. The GTE Corporation is the current sponsor, assuming that role in 1985.
