

McDANIEL COLLEGE

FINANCIAL AID OFFICE Dependency Appeal Form

The federal government defines specific criteria students must meet in order to be considered “independent” for financial aid purposes. If you do not meet these criteria, you may request that the school’s financial aid office reevaluate your dependency status. A dependency appeal is the process the school uses to review your situation and determine if you are eligible to be considered independent. This can only be done in unique circumstances. NOTE: Parental unwillingness nor inability to contribute is not considered a unique circumstance, nor is living on your own and paying for your own expenses.

Unique circumstances such as being estranged from your parent(s) due to extreme conditions (e.g. child abuse, abandonment, alcoholism, drug abuse, etc.) which can be documented by an objective third party (e.g. pastor, high school or college professor, a social service agency official, etc.) may qualify for this special treatment.

How does the Process Work?

Each school establishes its own policies with regard to granting dependency appeals. As a result, a student could receive a dependency override at one school, but not another.

At McDaniel College, the appeals committee reviews your appeal and keeps the information confidential. You will be notified of the committee’s decision.

How do I Submit an Appeal?

Complete and submit this form along with the other required documentation to McDaniel College, Financial Aid Office.

Note: Appeals will not be reviewed until all paperwork/documentation is received.

Other Notes:

- Completion of this form and submission of documents does not guarantee approval of a dependency appeal.
- Approval of an appeal does not guarantee receipt of additional aid.
- Your dependency status must be reevaluated each year until or unless you met the federal government’s definition of an independent student.
